Danny Dragonfly

Danny the Dragonfly here, nice to meet you. I haven't always looked like this. I started life as a nymph living in the water. I kept growing until one day it was time for me to take flight. None of my friends had ever come back once they left the pond. This made my first flight ever very scary—what might happen to me? But wow it was worth it! I'm so glad I was brave enough to give it a go. What new things do you think you could do if you were brave enough to have a try?

Barry Butterfly

Hi I'm Barry Butterfly and I used to be a caterpillar. I enjoyed being a caterpillar, but I wanted to see if there was anything else I could be or do so I worked hard to build my cocoon. Slowly I grew and changed into a beautiful butterfly! Now I can do things I couldn't do before. It's important to have a goal to work towards what do you dream of doing or being?

Courage

I'm Spencer Spider and I love nothing more than to build webs, especially as they help me to catch my dinner! I've built lots of webs but I am always looking for new places to build my webs; however, big or small there is always a web that I can design for the space. I like finding new places and new ways of doing things to see just what I can create. Have you tried doing things in different ways to see what you can make or do?

Aspiration

Bella Bee

Hello I am Bella Bee and I work very hard with all of my bee friends to make honey. We work together as a team because we get the job done better and quicker because we can help each other. See if you can try cooperating with your friends too so that you can make your ideas bigger and better and learn from each other.

Creativity

Freya Fox

Hello—I'm a little shy and I like to be able to look after myself. I store my food up and hibernate in the winter to make sure that I can survive. Sometimes it is good to try things by yourself to see just how much you can achieve. There isn't always someone who can help you. Remember to give things a go by yourself sometimes—it's great when you find out you can do it!

Cooperation

Curiosity

Who are you? Sorry always so many questions. I'm Freya Fox and I love meeting new people, going to new places, trying new foods and doing new things. I'm very inquisitive. I think this helps me to learn lots of new things. Why don't you try asking questions and trying new things? It will help you to learn lots of interesting things.
