

Year 5 Optional Homework Tasks

Find photographs that show how you have grown and changed over time from when you were a baby to the present day. Put them in chronological order to create a timeline. For each photograph, add the date and write a description of how you looked, what changes have occurred, what you could do and enjoyed doing, and what you needed from the adults around you.

Puberty is a time when young people need to have good personal hygiene. Design a poster to help young people be aware of the importance of good personal hygiene during puberty and provide examples of good hygiene habits.

Visit the Children's Poetry Archive online and read or listen to the poems about ageing, growing old, and time passing. Plan and write a poem on the theme of growing up or growing old.

Use information books and online sources to learn about mammals. Find out what mammals are, their common characteristics, their young and their gestation periods.

Create a character study for a person who is much older than you. After completing the character study, answer the following questions: • How is this person's life different from yours? • What are the advantages and disadvantages of being their age?

Use a camera to take photographic portraits of people of different ages that you know. Use suitable software to create a digital montage of the portraits to show human development.
